Ray-sensei integrates these diverse insights into Rolwing from an inclusive perspective, incorporating them into various Rolwing training programs.

This workshop will address key elements, such as:

- Exploration of a transformative field of integration through embryological perspectives.:
Deepening the connection between the body's formation processes and its potential for integration: the forces that form us are the forces that sustain us.
- A broad range of touch techniques, including manipulative approaches:
Refining hands-on skills to foster effective and harmonious integration.

For Rolfers, this workshop offers a unique opportunity to deepen their understanding of the 7th session of the Rolfing 10 series, with a focus on integrating the visceral cranium and neural cranium. For practitioners of CranioSacral Therapy and other somatic disciplines, it will provide a valuable chance to explore the "integration" of the entire body through a broad range of touch techniques(*).

By bringing together these perspectives, the workshop aims to enhance the skills of practitioners in fostering deeper bodily integration. Participants will enrich their understanding and practical application, making this workshop a transformative step in their professional development.

This class will be assisted by Hiroyoshi Tahata, a Rolf Movement Instructor. Ray and Hiroyoshi Tahata deeply resonate, sharing an orientation toward the Energetic Taxonomy in Rolfing. The learning experience within this shared, resonant field will provide participants with an invaluable opportunity to explore integration at a profound level.

*Note: Participants who are not certified Rolfers cannot claim to have learned Rolfing (Rolfing Structural Integration) treatment methods through this workshop. Additionally, they cannot identify themselves as Rolfers.
